5. BENEFITS OF LEAN SIX SIGMA TRAINING FOR MBA & MCA STUDENTS:

A major outcome of Lean Six Sigma training and implementation is that it positively changes the mindset of professionals, helps them to achieve “Right first time” whereby “defect-prevention” and “waste-elimination” becomes a way of life for them. Analyzing customer needs, collecting meaningful data, going to root causes of defects, understanding causes of variation, early detection through process-control and implementing profit-improvement projects (using DMAIC methodology) help organizations to “offer better products /services, with shorter delivery times at lower costs”.

The lean six sigma green belt certification greatly improves employability, for MBAs and MCAs as many recruiters prefer to hire certified green belts in campus placements.

Benefits for MBA students	Benefits for MCA students
Lean Six Sigma helps management professionals to create a culture of continuous improvement, where everyone in the organization is focused on delivering value to the customer while reducing waste and inefficiencies.	Lean Six Sigma provides IT professionals with a structured approach to problem-solving that can result in improved process efficiency, customer satisfaction, decision-making, collaboration, and continuous improvement.
Cost Reduction: By eliminating waste and reducing defects, Lean Six Sigma helps organizations reduce costs associated with poor quality, rework, and overproduction. This translates to increased profitability and a competitive advantage in the market.	By following Lean Six Sigma methodologies, IT professionals can identify and eliminate process inefficiencies and redundancies. This results in a more streamlined and efficient IT operations.
Improved Decision Making: Lean Six Sigma provides management professionals with data-driven insights into organizational processes. This enables them to make informed decisions based on objective evidence.	IT professionals can use this methodology to understand the needs and requirements of their customers better , resulting in improved customer satisfaction.
Management professionals who implement Lean Six Sigma develop strong leadership skills , which they can apply to other areas of their professional and personal lives.	By using data and analytics, IT professionals can identify the root cause of a problem and develop solutions that are based on data-driven insights.

6. SCHEDULE FOR TRAINING COURSE AND QUALIFYING-EXAMINATION:

Course Name	Training Days	Batch	Course Timings
Lean Six Sigma GREEN BELT Certification Course	3 Full Days	One Batch of 40 to 65 students	9.30 am to 5.30 pm daily
On-line Examination (100 MCQs), Assessment & ASCB- USA Accredited Certification			Examination duration 120 mins (open-book)

7. WHAT MAKES THIS COURSE UNIQUE?

This Application Oriented Course (taught through exercises and case studies) is targeted towards result oriented practicing professionals (not statisticians). It provides a road map towards capturing market share in today's global economy via quantum reduction in variation, defects, wastages and total cost.

Our syllabus and course methodology is reviewed once every quarter with active involvement of ASCB - USA to ensure continual improvement.

Unlike traditionally taught Six Sigma courses, methods used in this course are very user-friendly and tailored to ensure proper understanding of the subject. Class exercises and case studies are designed specifically to enable retention and application, such that students can apply this learning in their work scenario.
